

Carol Sankar is an international R&D advisor, investor & founder of the Confidence Factor for Women. Her research has been featured at The University of Miami, Harvard University, San Jose State University, St Leonard's College and more.

In addition, Carol has been featured in numerous publications, media outlets and conferences; including recent features in Forbes, SXSW, Essence, Entrepreneur.com, TEDx, The Steve Harvey Show, The TODAY Show, Inc. Magazine, and Working Mother.

Carol holds a degree in Political Science & International History from Hofstra University in New York. Sankar also has earned several professional certifications; including but not limited to, NYS Notary Public, The American Bar Association Intellectual Property Executive certification from Long Island University and an American Political Science Fellow.

Today, Carol is an active real estate investor, bestselling author & writer, advisor and the founder of The Confidence Factor for Women in Leadership, which is an executive firm for women leaders and one of the leading global negotiation training platforms for women entitled Increase Your Ask. In addition, she is a leadership contributor for Inc., and Entrepreneur.